

Connie Marshall

Website: www.justiceforallcitizens.com

Email: conniecmarshall@gmail.com Email: conniemarshall@justiceforallcitizens.com

Certified Mail Receipt: 70132630000056904279

Page 2 of 3

January 8, 2015 - Turned on Computer and the following Electrical Interference took place. Computer Repairman stated electrical overload could have come from a power surge. Note: This is the day after the lights went off and on and the breaker box was overloaded, in which LG&E stated was their fault.

Video 4

January 8, 2015 - This is my hard drive of my computer, which was clicking off and on while the computer screen was malfunctioning due to electrical interference. Note: My coworkers can also tell you that on the days that all of this was occurring, I told them that I felt extremely exhausted, as if someone had drained the energy out of my body.

Video 5

Jan. 8, 2015 - The Louisville Gas & Electric Worker on this Video DID NOT HAVE IDENTIFICATION. I did not allow him to work on my property regarding the Electrical surges and my computer problems.

Video 6

Jan. 9, 2015 - This man in this video was at my door with his car pulled all the way to the back of my driveway. I am not listed on CraigsList looking for a date with anyone. He stated I contacted him to come to my house for a date that I contacted him on Craigs List. The following are the events leading up to this Stalker:

On January 9, 2015 - I was soaking in the bath tub in Epsom salt water, due to the exhaustion I was feeling from the electrical interference. I was in the bath tub for a long time putting my head under water occasionally also. I was trying to do a thorough soaking of my entire body. I heard my two poodles barking continuously, so I got out of the tub and put a towel around my head and body. I looked out of the front door window and this man was on my porch. He stated that I contacted him on Craigslist for a date. I ran to get my camera and started filming him and he quickly left my porch. I ran to slip a coat on, as I was naked, so that I could see where he went and the next thing I know, I saw him backing out of my driveway. In other words he had pulled to the back of my driveway. You can vaguely see him going to the side of my house in this video and you can see the lights of his vehicle as he backed out of my driveway. I tried to run out to film his vehicle, but apparently I did not get a clear video of it.

Note: I do not go on CraigsList looking for dates

Note: If anyone comes to a person's house for a date they do not pull all the way to the back of their driveway.

Note: I also noticed that my back door knob was turned and partially opened when I let my dogs out F.Y.I. - I did call 911 regarding this issue, however I did not ask the police to come to my house because they are involved in this corruption which includes stalking. I do believe that this man would have come in my home, if he could find a way in.

I believe he was driving a fairly late model type of SUV. I believe it was a gray color. I could not really chase his vehicle because I had just got out of the tub and the coat I threw on is not made to have buttons all the way down to cover your body. I do Fear for my life, as I do have several complaints filed against the Louisville Metro Police and this Stalker coming to my home is related to the aforementioned.